

Dedication Scholarship Application Guidelines

Thanks to many generous individuals, organizations, foundations and fundraising events, The Fine Arts Association (FAA) offers Dedication Scholarships to FAA students. FAA adheres to the guidelines and procedures outlined below. Applications are available on FAA’s website at <https://www.fineartsassociation.org/about/scholarships/> or at the Customer Service Center. FAA’s Dedication Scholarships reward a student’s commitment to FAA and to their craft. Criteria considered include length of tenure at FAA and faculty referral.

Dedication Scholarship Eligibility

Three award tiers are available, dependent on available funding. Students are eligible for each tier, so long as all guidelines (below) are met, based on the number of years they have been a student at FAA and are recommended by an FAA faculty member. A limited number of awards are available at each level. Meeting the minimum criteria does not guarantee an award at that level.

Dedication Scholarship Award Levels (awards are for the full academic year)

- $200 – for students entering at least their second year at FAA
- $350 – for students entering at least their fourth year at FAA
- $600 – for students entering at least their seventh year at FAA

For students who have attended FAA non-consecutively, a “year” is defined as 2 full sessions. One full session is defined as 18-week private music lessons, 16 or 18-week theatre/art/dance classes, or a combination of shorter sessions. Summer sessions are considered separately for summer scholarships.
